About James

James Bremner Consulting is an arm of GB Agency, the award-winning boutique marketing agency he runs from NYC. An Englishman in New York, James brings 30 years of business success to the table. His sales & marketing acumen enables him to create strategies that drive growth for clients around the globe.

At age 7, James sold sausage rolls to other kids at a vegetarian boarding school. Later on, less illicit affairs would see him run multiple agencies, and move to the US in 2007.

He has deep knowledge of B2B & B2C, from ecommerce to startups and multinational enterprises. He was a pioneer in website and SaaS marketing, and has built, advised, funded, and sold successful businesses around the world.
